Awards were given in practically every academic area, in English, arts, business education, mathematics, science, and social studies.

Mr. Sunada presented awards to the student council. Mrs. Philips gave recognition to members in the drama club. Miss McCann gave out awards for journalism.

of the credit for the success of this year's Prom.

The theme of the Prom was "Adieu Paris" and a beautiful farewell it was.

Athletes and Chorus Honored

On May 21, the band blared the glory of Dreux's athletic prowess in the base auditorium as the student body applauded the heroes of the past season. Each coach, after saying a few appropriate words, presented letters or pins to members of his team.

In addition, awards and appreciation were given to this year's fine cheerleaders by Miss Cline.

Mr. Swift, head of the music department, rendered recognition to all those involved in the band and chorus. This seemed to include about half the student body--a tribute to Mr. Swift's ability to generate interest in the music activities at Dreux. Special music awards were presented to certain outstanding chorus and band members. The chorus, to show their appreciation of Mr. Swift's generous and enthusiastic efforts, presented him with a gift.

Principal Mathews then gave a short talk congratulating the student body on their spirit and good will shown in the past year.

Mr. Weiss was called to the podium. He strode Caesar-like to the fore and announced the end of the assembly.

(For details of awards consult the sport and music pages.)

Carol Hutto, Queen of Prom

"ADIEU PARIS"

Dreuites in a unaccustomed display of courtliness and camouflaged in boutonnieres, corsages, and formals made the Junior-Senior Prom held in the George V Hotel, Paris, May 16th, the "class" of the social season.

And quite a memorable event it was. The whole affair, dripping with continental sophistication, went smoothly and richly. The Versailles-like decor of the Salon des Fetes echoed to the orchestrated strains of flowing music. A sumptuous outlay of savory foods and faultless service greeted the guests.

Queen Carol Hutto presided over the 240 Dreuites who attended the grand dance of the year. Paul Krausman was her escort.

In Miss Hutto's court were Joan Smith escorted by Terry Hennes, Jeannie Bedford escorted by Forest Wulf, Linda Minick escorted by Chris Walther, Gretchen Edwards escorted by Larry Lahusen. Bob Frailey was Master of Ceremonies.

To Linda Minick, Junior Class officer; to the Junior Class sponsors, Mr. Hughes and Miss Matson, belong much

SOPHOMORE NEWS

The Sophomore class has capped its successful year with an eventful class trip to Deauville. This trip climaxed the school year for the sophomores. They have put on dances this year as the Hawaiian Luau, the Valentine Dance, and the Beatnik Dance, which have taken hours of hard work after school.

After the trip and all other expenses have been paid, the Sophomore class will have $179 for next year's Junior class.

JUNIOR NEWS

Many trials and tribulations befell the Junior class during the year 1963-1964. The class offices have changed hands frequently- the presidency has changed three times, the vice-presidency and Secretary twice. Luck has been with them in the treasury department.

Their money-making projects have included the Dusty Dicks Dance, the Sadie Hawkins Dance, the Playboy Dance, the Spring Formal, the sale of sweatshirts, emblems, sandwiches, soft drinks, and candy. These activities supplied the class with over fourteen hundred dollars.

Despite the problems of raising enough money, getting people to work on the dance committees, and keeping Miss Watson from losing her mind, their biggest project was the Junior-Senior Prom, which was a tremendous success.

Good luck to the Junior class of 1964-65!!!!

SENIOR NEWS

The latest with the Seniors is their "splashing" trip to the lake. The original purpose of the trip was "to be inspired by nature and to put feelings on paper", but once anyone gets off base, who thinks of poems? Anyway, some of the seniors didn't and spent a week's restriction wishing they had.

The poor seniors got into more trouble when they sponsored the Senior Slave Sale and the underclassmen took advantage. Presently the Seniors are resting up for graduation.

REMEMBER THE GLORIES OF EVENING STUDYHALL?

From a far distant realm of existence one hears the mysterious chant of the ancient one calling them to the evening study hall and worshipping rites. Slowly the staunch believers advance. Not so much as a word is said. All are dead quiet.

As the dark temple is approached, sudden cries for Aka Aka's mercy are heard, but a stern glance from a leader silences the unpredicted outburst.

Seats are taken after the traditional welcoming dance is finished.

All hooded heads are bowed in the position. Then the learning materials are assembled on each wooden altar. The believer is filled with a feeling of great excitement as he begins the "Task".

The tick of the Temple's clock casts away the precious time of the believer. Soon it is the ungodly time, the time to quit. Can it be true? Yes, the horrible hour of departure has come. The believer must leave his sanctuary.

Sadly, but knowingly, he heads toward his dingy cell to try to have a little time to read one more wisdom-filled paragraph.

As the cells lights flicker out, weeping and wild shrieks are uttered from the trembling lips of a true believer.

EDITORIAL LY SPEAKING -- Jane Green

The 1963 -1964 year is finally coming to a close, to the joy of some, to the sorrow of others. Life at Dreux has not only been a pleasant one, but in the final analysis, it has been a great one for most of us.

Students of many different backgrounds and experiences have offered a great variety of individuality, but at the same time, given a need for community life and identification here at Dreux. All this diversity has harmonized smoothly and added a spice of excitement and stimulation.

To those who are graduating, the best of luck now and in the future.

Another year has passed and another group is ushered out into the "outside" world. Many will go on to higher education and other will find jobs. The faculty which has taught you hopes that their teachings have provided you with a foundation that will aid you.

Congratulations to the graduating class of 1964!

MUSIC PROGRAM AT DREUX

Mr. William D. Swift--Music

Mr. Swift heads the music department at Dreux High School. He teaches band and has organized outside of school hours on his own time a large student chorus which has made many public appearances.

Mr. Swift was born in Winona, Minnesota. He attended high school in Freeport, Illinois and one year of college at Winona State College before going to the University of Arizona at Tucson for his Bachelor and eventually Master of Music degree.

He studied with Dr. Frank Simon, Assistant Conductor for Sousa. His specialty is instrumental music and is himself highly skilled in the use of the french horn.

Mr. Swift played in the Tuscon Symphony and the All American Bandmaster's Concert in Chicago.

He taught 4 years in Ajo, Arizona, and 2 years in Tuscon.

Mrs. Swift, who helps her husband with the school chorus, also possesses marked musical talents. She has a degree in vocal music from the University of Arizona and has played opera leads in university productions.

Mr. Swift remarks that he admires the excellent work habits of the students in the band and chorus. He thanks the chorus for giving up their free time to come to practices.

And indeed, the school is thankful to have such a man as Mr. Swift.

The music activities at Dreux have been vibrant all year long, what with entertainments at assemblies and at the pep rallies, but in these closing months of school a whole series of highly successful programs has been performed.

On April 11th the girl's chorus travelled to Orleans to participate in a civic music festival. Groups from Chateauroux, Paris, Orleans, and Poitiers also joined our school group to sing a mass in the Orleans Cathedral. Recordings were made of the concert and members of the Dreux chorus are expecting to receive copies shortly.

On May 7th the school band travelled to Orleans for a music festival and were well received.

On May 4th the band and chorus put on a large program for the grade school here at Dreux and then with this warm-up behind them, the chorus and band sponsored an outstanding show May 6th at Senonches.

Several French papers in the area covered the concert and praised it highly. The Clarinet Boogie, played by Billie Smith on the clarinet, was the best received number. This number was played twice be popular request.

The same program was repeated for the high school May 11th at an assembly organized for that purpose. The band again played at the recent award assembly and still things are not over for the hard working music department. The chorus will sing at the forthcoming graduation.

Dorm one began the school year with Mr. Robertson, Mr. Philips, Mr. Lamar and Mr. Weisman as their counselors. About four months after the beginning of school Mr. Kalamaris transferred from Dorm two and Mr. Robertson went to Dorm two.

It has been stated that many incidents have taken place which have made life in Dorm one an unforgettable one. "John Depriest, Jeff Allen, Tom Henry, Jack Gledhill, and Bob Brady have done more than their share to keep their dorm in an orderly fashion", remarks one inhabitant.

Dorm one, the place where "nothing ever happens" is quite the opposite now. The counselors would quickly defend it for its tumult and the chaos between studyhall and lights out.

Many students have begun to notice the nervousness and the gray hair lines of our most vulnerable counselors. On many occasions the students have been known to find a counselor cowering in a corner or under his bed at the sound of an explosion of a coke can being thrown down the hall.

Dorm one is a predominantly athletic dorm and many of their men hold COM-Z titles in assorted sports. With the advent of spring, the dorm organized a crack baseball team which will be coached by Mr. Kalamaris, a former University of California athletic star.

The residence in the dorm is looked upon, by its inhabitants, as an experience in group living which none of them would like to have missed.

Life in Dorm two can be described in the following quote: "It's different." The inhabitants of dorm two feel that they must take the credit for being the most active dorm and has these three records to boast of:

1. They have had the only complete riot.
2. They have had more people removed from school than their counterpart, Dorm 1.
3. They have had the only sole member of restriction study hall in school.

Although this dorm has the lowest total grade average in the entire school, 14 of them have made the honor roll, and Red Ybarra, president of the F.T.A. and Secretary-Treasurer of the Student Council, is the dorm's outstanding student.

The girls in Dorm three are preparing for the journey home. To them it has been a great year. Dorm three's counselors at the beginning of the year were: Miss Curry, Miss Longwell, Miss Burke, and Miss Stamler. Of the four only 2 remain at the present time. Miss Curry was replaced by Mrs. Shelby, Miss Stamler found it necessary to be with her ill mother in the United States and was replaced by Miss Dodge. Miss Dodge decided that dorm life was too much for her, so she decided to take to the easier life and moved to South Africa with her fiancée. After her departure another counselor made the scene and is still with us. This counselor is Miss Pappas.

The general friendly attitude of all the girls involved, the concern and fairness in which the counselors dealt with them, parties, etc. have all contributed to make life in Dorm three a very exciting one.

Dorm four celebrated the grand opening of the Malibu Country club about two weeks ago. It was a gala event, with Miss Osmond acting as hostess. The latest fashions in sportswear were exhibited all along the boardwalk.

And what is this we hear about the busy bees in the upstairs smoking room? Karen and Carol have been rolling paper streamers.

Some weeks ago, during the hush of evening study hall in Dorm four, the windows blew open, doors slammed, and water poured in uncontrollably. The ceiling rose and fell exposing the dark ebony sky through the crack.

The only destruction was in the Dixon-Fuerst abode were their possessions. In the upstairs hall a leak in the roof began to drip and by the morning a small reservoir filled the bucket.

Of the minor revolutions of the dorm, the Padier-Uranga blitzkrieg was explosive. It was set off by the flinging of a can of talcum powder during studyhall and the results were cloudy.

Such is life in Dorm four. Its inhabitants have considered it a worthwhile year and wouldn't have wanted to miss it for the world.

SENIOR PLAY "CHARLY'S AUNT" SUCCESS

Doug Blakenship as Lord M'ancourt Babberly impersonating Charley's aunt won acclaim in the seniors' production of Charley's Aunt May 14th and 15th in the Base Recreation Center.

Miss Valenzuela directed the drama. The Senior class revealed their spirit and enthusiasm in working hard to put on the enjoyable hit comedy.

A GREAT YEAR IN SPORTS!

VIKINGS CAPTURE USAREUR SOCCER TROPHY!

Culminating a perfect season, Dreux's Vikings smashed helpless Toul 8-1 to win the 1964 COM-Z title and USAREUR Soccer Trophy.

Working daily in long practice sessions, Coach Mauby once again fulfilled that typical standard of Dreux coaches--turning out a championship team. For the season's league total, Dreux amassed 24 points to its opposition's 4.

TRACK SQUAD ENDS SEASON

The track squad ended its season at the USAREUR tournament held at Nuremberg, Germany. Sam Goodrich came in 4th in the 800m Relay with an 2:03 time, but the team as a whole failed to bring back any trophies. Bill Parker came in 4th in the 200 m. dash in the same meet.

The record for the season is as follows:

At Verdun (Bitburg, Toul, Verdun, Dreux) 1st.
At Orleans (Chat., Orleans, Toul, Dreux) 3rd.
At Paris (Paris, Toul, Dreux) 2nd.
At Orleans (Paris, Chat., Orleans, Dreux) 4th.
COM-Z (9 teams including Lakenheath and Central) 5th place.

Tennis Team Back From Germany

The Dreux tennis team sponsored by Mr. Elstran returned from Garmish, Germany, where the USAREUR tourney was held. The team managed a 10th place among 18 competitors.

This season the tennis squad defeated Chateauroux and Poitiers and lost to Orleans in regular season play. A five team meet at Paris was rained out.

The letterman in tennis are: Blaine Turner, Tim Larson, Gregg Larson, Steve Sarvas, Bruce Beck, Cathie Tudish, Donnie Shields, Pam Mayfield, Kathy Krausman, and Nancy Miller.

INTERMURAL BOWLING AWARDS

On May 25 the 2nd semester Bowling League held a banquet to close the season. The award dinner was held at Senonches and amidst applause the following received trophies:

Boys: Rick Greenwalt (high game), Glen Louviere (high series), Phil Galler (high average), Richard Lancaster (most improved);

Three COM-Z Championships (football, soccer, and golf), two 2nd place COM-Z positions (basketball, wrestling), and a host of All-COM-Z players in every sport! Now there is something to shout about.

Let's take one last look. In football, paced by the power of fullback Pat MacTaggart and the spirit and ability of the whole team, Dreux literally pulverized all COM-Z opponents--even the highly rated Paris team. Dreux ended the season with a tie with Central on a wet, wind-swept field.

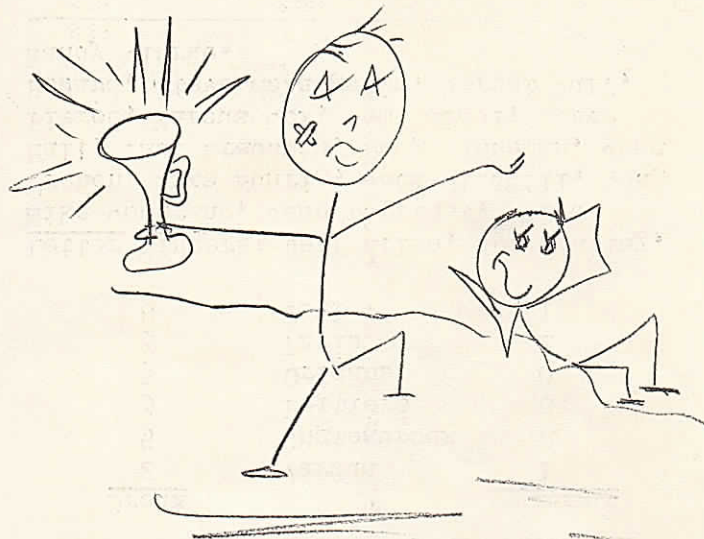

In basketball, Dreux defeated every opponent in season and post-season play except for Chateauroux.

In Soccer, Dreux's Vikings wielded the ax like warriors of old, clobbering every opponent. The Vikings scored 24 points to 4 points for the opposition during the season.

In wrestling, Dreux sponsored a powerful team only to be edged by Paris by 5 points for the COM-Z title. In the Europe finals, Jeff Allen won 1st place in the unlimited division.

In golf, Dreux's team topped every other COM-Z school. In cross-country, Dreux fielded a third place team in its first attempt at this sport. In track and tennis, Dreux came up with representative teams. Sam Goodrich holds the COM-Z record in the 800 meters.

This year's sporting results are a tribute to the devotion and skill of Dreux's coaches: Mr. Apkarian, Mr. Elstran, Mr. Mauby, Mr. Agnew, Mr. Rutherford, Mr. Fischer, and Mr. Hannon. Our appreciation and our hats off to them!

Girls: Karen Scanlan (high game), Sherrie Spenser (high series), Bobbie Thomanson (h. av.), Barb Nicholas (most improved).

Remember that fateful day when the entire population was marched into the dry lunch room to be branded for life?

FRATERNIZATION

Three GI's from Germany were caught serenading to Dreux students at the Base Theater. The students kept screaming for more and more to avoid returning to studies and proved to the world their great musical interests.
